I'd really want AC present, so u may have to add the "exceptionally extraordinary Games" Section which would be a specialized section of games at the request and demands of the community... As for First Person shooter 2008 PC Games, I would think you'd better make it a multi-platfrom enable discussion not to lose some console ppl out there, and just neglect the "2008" part, coz obviously and hopefully this site is gonna prevail into the future ;)

I would say you'd have to apply the same Methodology for the FPS game section "that would hopefully be multi-platformed" as to making a poll and list some 10 FPS games and let the community rate the ones that would probably make it to the FPS section, yet we would surely be a couple of FPS titles that deserve to make it to the FPS section. Having said that, I would also like to suggest a direct comment thread or sort of a shout-box for members commenting on the new section's content or games, etc...

AC section must stay :)

Have you heard that it will be trilogy ? And it seems be similar to BField ? I mean, I've read somewhere (when I find it, of course I will post link), that second part will take place in present and third in future. Interesting.

We tried a new front page last night, but really didn't like it, so decided to stick with the old one while we figure out how and what to do! So we might just make a flash banner and news section blabla atm. for other games :/

hehe yeah I have done my share of illigal and stupid driving/riding aswell... Almost hit a tree once without helmet when doing around 90km/h (56mph I think) on a dirt road and tried to avoid a tree-root on a "borrowed" Italjet dragster 180cc...dont like scooters so much but that one was freaking awesome!?!? like a bullet..
