"A Crysis movie is definitely planned," said Yerli. "We are in active talks already. I think we will close this topic before the end of this year."

:D:blink: :D:blink:

"I believe we will release our next game quicker than Crysis, so I estimate a two to three year cycle."

Seems to long xD

"As a developer, Yerli said the goal is to mature into a multi-team studio with innovation and quality at its core. Currently, the team is looking into new challenges and also is evaluating Crysis 2, but nothing can be said and announced officially."

Mmmh

EDIT: Official word from the Crytek community regarding the topic

Cevat Yerli, co-founder, president and CEO of Crytek, was guest speaker at the Imagina 2008 3D Technology Conference for the second consecutive year. In their interview, Cevat talks about the future of the Crysis Franchise, the upcoming Far Cry movie, and CryEngine 2 in particular.

The CryEngine 2 Interview

During this part of the interview, Cevat spoke briefly of the Crysis modding community, which he stated as being "quite active." In addition, he spoke of the advantages of being an independent developer. When asked if Crytek would consider becoming part of a larger publisher one day, Cevat stated that he doesn't really think about leaving his current independent state, although the game developer has been approached numerous times since releasing Far Cry and Crysis.

He also states that he is looking into presenting a cross-platform version of CryEngine 2 at the Game Developer's Conference.

FarCry Movie and planned Crysis Movie

Based upon the interview, it seems that Uwe Boll will once again be taking the reins as director of the new Far Cry movie, which will likely be scheduled to hit theaters some time in 2009. Yerli stated that licensing the film rights to Boll was "the right business decision at the right time. Although we weren't involved with the film early in its development, I think the script has changed and improved dramatically since then - at least I hope it has, since I can't wait to see the movie." He has also announced the possibility of Crysis becoming theatricalized as well. "A Crysis movie is definitely planned, and we are already in active talks regarding this", Cevat said.

Please, do not let Uwe Boll to be a director :P

@ Crysis 2 - Crytek should put a knife in sequel. Imagine action knife + stelh + throat cutting animation = F**

AWESOME LETHAL ACTION :D

c'mon :D bruce willis will be hell worse ! :D but well they all are grandpas :D

they should do casting to find new face, someone who rly can play - but some good actor especially woth famous name is needed but not for MAIN role !

But if they take an actor they will better choose Christiane Bale. He played good as bruce wayne in batman or as Alfred Borden in the prestige. I guess he will do well.

Nah, not vin. He played ok Riddick ... but he can't fit NOMAD :D Oh, big muscles istn' everything. Rock is a bit better, but not perfect.

Casting for new face will be the best option !
