Paradise MOD

Posted by bgavran3 - 2008/02/09 11:47

I started making this mod after the release of my Savanna2Jungle map.

The main goal of this mod is to make extremely atmospheric environment in which the player should feel like he is in a paradise. Lush jungles, long beaches... I will try to achieve the level of detail of the original Crysis maps (cutscenes, AI, environment...)

But the mod won't be only about environment. It will also feature exciting gameplay with both main and secondary environments that'll provide big replayability. There will be some linear parts of the map in which the story will be told with a lot of cutscenes and some bigger, non-linear parts in which you can choose the way you play and which objectives to deal with first.

The story isn't connected to the original Crysis one, it's completely different and will offer some surprising plot twists. I will uncover the details of it later.

I didn't set any release date for the mod, I will try to release it before June. The mod is intended for people with high-end PC's. People with low-end PC's can play it too but the experience won't be the same.

So far I'm working on this mod alone, later in development I will need 5-6 people to give their voices to characters and few testers that will test the new version of the mod every 2-3 weeks.

Here are all the pictures released so far:

Another update is here!

The mod has reached 20% completion! Lots of content is already inside of the mod and working.

The best thing in it its going to be replayability. Unlike my Savanna2Jungle mod, which had replayability, but it was only 1 different cutscene, the replayabiity in this mod is going to be MUCH BIGGER. Its only 20% completed and theres like 10 different options you can choose from. Some are small and dont affect the storyine and some are really, really big and can completely change the way you play.

For example, you get the objective to gather intel which will reveal exact hostage positions and two secondary objectives. One to stick with your team and the other one to investigate some island. After you gather the intel you get the objective to save some hostages.

Now, you can complete all the objecitves by sticking with your team , investigating that island, gathering intelligence and saving hostages. OR you can just wander around and then if you accidentally find the hostages before gathering the intel, mod will adapt and the story will move on. Or you can stick with your team, find the hostages and then gather the intel which is pretty stupid way to play but its possible.

Note that this are not the actual objectives from the mod but they are very, very similar.

I have prepared some new pictures, enjoy!

I, again, need one more tester.

Requirements:

1. You need to be regular on this forum, you need to have decent amount of posts and you need to be registered here for longer time. Basically you need to be trustworthy, as I cant give this mod to anyone.
2. You need to have big flowgraph knowledge as there are and most likely will be some bugs that I cant solve
3. Sandbox 2 editor basic knowledge, AI, vegetation, objects, sound....

Responsibilities

1. Test the mod over and over to ensure all bugs are removed
2. Assist in solving bugs
3. Help with level design problems

All of the requirements are essential. Apply in this thread and when I get a decent number of applications I will announce the "winner"

No one else is interested in testing? Come on there's got to be someone that wants to test the mod! Ayways, I have two new pictures of the forest area I've been working on. Area in the both pics is completed except maybe the textures on the second one, I just want to ask, do you think I'm on the right way?
